KSPMA HISTORY

Humble Beginnings

KSPMA was organized as a result of a visit by Hank Freuderberger and Don Brooks to the Southern School Plant Managers conference at Biloxi, Mississippi. James Magill was the Executive Director of SSPM. Jim Vaughn and Jim Fegenbush, both from Jefferson County Public Schools had given presentations at the Oklahoma SSMP convention in 1986 or 1987.

When Hank and Don returned to Louisville they began to plan for a Kentucky School Plant Managers organization. They made contact with many plant managers in surrounding school systems (Lexington, Owensboro and others).

A conference was planned for the fall of 1989. The first conference was held at the Executive Inn in Louisville, Kentucky. There were 29 charter members and six charter vendors. Their budget was $12,000. The conference continued to be held in Louisville, Kentucky for several years. Executive Inn, Executive West and Fern Valley Road Holiday Inn were next in line as conference sites. A few years later, the conference was moved to Owensboro, Kentucky and then to Holiday Inn in Lexington, Kentucky. The conference was held there for several years until it was moved to Embassy Suites in Lexington where the 30th annual conference was held.

The original plan was for the state to be divided into ten regions composed of several counties in each region with Jefferson County and Fayette County being a region of their own because of their size. A director was elected from each region which comprised the Board of Directors along with the officers of the association and two vendor representatives.

The officers at that time were President, President Elect, Past President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer.

The vendors play a vital role in financing the organization. The vendors buy a booth at the conference and bring their equipment and services to display and promote. Over time the booth spaces were purchased at different levels of support including vendor partners, gold and diamond with increasing prices for each level. This commitment of vendors to support the conferences provides the money to put on the conferences and sustain the organization throughout the year.

The position of historian was added the first year of the organization. Larry Durbin of Fayette County was the first historian. Later historians were Pete Miller and Jim Fegenbush.

As the organization continued to grow, the Board tried to get more superintendents involved. Our first Superintendent President was Ed McNeal. He was influential in getting the word out to other superintendents to see the value of KSPMA for school facilities and getting their commitment to the organization. After Ed's term as President, it was decided to add the new position of Superintendent Representative to the Board. Steve Butcher of Pulaski County currently holds the position.

The Board only grew when they were financially able to do so. As more vendors became involved and the different levels of sponsorship grew, then the organization grew. Shirley Smith became the Treasurer early on and continued to be Treasurer for the next 27 years.

As the organization continued to grow, it became obvious that there was more work to be done than could be done on a voluntary basis. It was at that time that John Noel was asked to be the Executive Director. He received a stipend which had to be raised because of the increased work load required of the organization.

When it became time for John Noel to retire, it was necessary to find another Executive Director. About this time, we had acquired the service of Pro-Trainers to provide some of the required safety training for our membership. Steve Griebe of Pro-Trainers applied for the position of Executive Director and was selected. He put his company in the hands of others so that he could devote his time to the organization. He began in 2014.

As the organization continued to grow and as the position of Executive Director was requiring more time, it was decided to get the Executive Director some additional help. It was at that time that Scott Rowland (upon retirement) was able to join the Board as an Assistant Executive Director to relieve Steve Griebe of some of his responsibilities and allow him to continue with the organization.

There were several areas related to school plant management that required annual or three year training continuing education updates. Much of this training was not being maintained. It became apparent that KSPMA could provide some of this training to assist districts throughout the state. Ed Higdon was added to the Board as Training Facilitator. He kept a record of all training that KSPMA directors had hosted in their counties. Later three training directors were added to the board to provide training in each of their regions. This continued for several years until Steve was able to provide state certification for our training and regional training directors were no longer needed on the Board.

As the organization continued to grow, it was decided to add a Chaplain to the Board. The position was filled by Sam Haulk, an ordained minister, who is also a plant manager for one of our smaller districts and brings a wealth of information to the Board as it pertains to smaller districts.

As the organization grew financially, it was decided to provide scholarships to students going to college. Seventy five scholarships have been awarded thus far.

As the training requirements grew, the organization continued to provide more and more training. Some of the training is provided online.

When energy management of schools was legislated and funded for two years, energy managers were hired by districts to fulfill this requirement. The idea of funding was for two years to get the program started with the hope that the districts would pick up the funding in the third and succeeding years. It was hoped that the energy saving money would be enough to fund the energy managers. Most districts, strapped with limited budgets, were not able to continue the program. KSPMA was asked by KSBA to pick up this responsibility and they did so. Another position was added to the Board to fulfill this requirement of recording, reducing and reporting this information to the Kentucky Department of Education.

Training will always be a big part of the services provided by KSPMA. Vendors will continue to bring new products, services and ideas for school plant managers to use in building, maintenance, construction and renovation.

It has always been the goal of KSPMA to provide the best, cleanest and environmentally safest schools for our Kentucky students. As officers and Board members we will continue to keep KSPMA headed in this direction.

A big thank you to all of those who have gone before, worked tirelessly, given above and beyond to provide Kentucky with such a great organization.

Thank you,
Jim Fegenbush, Historian
